Village House in Casarabonela

This typical village house really does offer any potential buyer the opportunity to reform a sizeable property. The house itself boasts a large lounge, which leads through to a good-sized kitchen. Just off of this is the bathroom. Upstairs you will find two large double bedrooms both of which are bright and airy. This house could easily be redesigned and made even bigger by adding another floor. In addition to this there is a large back garden, which is large enough to perhaps build another property. This is a good investment for anyone looking to reform an existing village property.
